Company name:

UniMath.

Technical aspects:

I'm glad you mentioned javascript at some point as just using HTML would not be sufficient: HTML is not code it is just a markup language.

Take a look at css as well for the look of your website.

Initial comments about write up:

Well written.

Initial comments about strategy:

This is a very saturated market with multiple consultancy companies doing exactly what you suggest. Do some work to identify your USP and how you will differentiate.
